

TERRORISM, TRANSNATIONAL CRIME AND CORRUPTION CENTER
GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY

What is Needed? The Way Ahead for WMD Policy

TraCCC at the School of Public Policy invites you to join us for a day long conference addressing major priorities in WMD Policy. Drawing on diverse expertise, the conference will examine the problems of proliferation, the nexus of criminals and terrorists and the new opportunities for international engagement with this new administration.

Panels will allow time for Questions and Discussion

Please respond to tracc@gmu.edu if you will be attending and please indicate whether you will be joining us for lunch

APRIL 16, 2009

Room: Original Building, Arlington Campus, Room 329

Program

Registration: 8:45-9-15 (coffee is served)

9:20 Welcome Dean Kingsley Haynes, Dean, School of Public Policy, George Mason University
Louise Shelley, Director, TraCCC, SPP

9:30-11:15 Panel 1: The Problem

Chair: Alex Gliksman, Principal; Science, Strategy and Solutions LLC

Spike Bowman, former deputy to the National Counterintelligence Executive:
“The Effects of Globalization on the Concept of WMD”

Jo Husbands, Senior Project Director, National Academy of Sciences: “Biological Weapons and BioTerrorism: There’s More to WMD than Nukes”

Wayne Perry, Professor, School of Public Policy, George Mason University: “Will Nuclear Arms Reduction Policy Deter or Dissuade Proliferation? New Multi-Player Models May Help Structure the Answer”

Robert Litwak, Director, International Security Studies, Wilson Center:
"Strategies to Prevent Nuclear Terrorism"

11:15- 11:30 Coffee Break

11:30-1:15 Panel 2: Crime and Terrorism: Responding to the Networks
Chair: Steven Schleien, Director, Transnational Threats Policy, DOD

Louise Shelley, Professor, School of Public Policy, George Mason University, Director, Terrorism, Transnational Crime and Corruption Center: “Why We Need to Understand Crime Networks and their Role in International Proliferation”

Michael Bronner, journalist, author of 100 Grams (and Counting...): Notes from the Nuclear Underworld: “What Should We Learn from Nuclear Smuggling between Russia and Georgia?”

Mahmut Cengiz, Major, Turkish National Police, formerly with nuclear smuggling branch: “The Consequences of Criminals Involvement in Nuclear Proliferation: The Turkish Case”

Chris Corpora, President, Capitol Innovation and Strategy Solutions LLC and Contract, Senior Advisor to the FBI: “The Crime-Terror Nexus: The Challenges of Cross-Programmatic Solutions for WMD Threats”

Lunch 1:15-2:15

2:15-4:00 Panel 3: Opportunities for Engagement

Chair: Judy Mandel, Consultant, URS Corporation/EG&G Division

Jack Nunn, Principal; Science, Strategy and Solutions LLC: “Organizing to Defeat Terrorist Radiological and Nuclear Threats”

Yonah Alexander, Director of the Interuniversity Center for Terrorism Studies,
Professor Emeritus SUNY: “WMD and the Middle East; Quo Vadis?”

Ambassador William Miller, Senior Fellow, Woodrow Wilson International Center: "The Nuclear Question in Iran"

Rens Lee, President, Global Advisory Services: “What if? Coping with a Post-Proliferation Environment”

George Mason University School of Public Policy
Original Building
3401 N. Fairfax Drive
Arlington, VA 22201
Maps and Directions

Chatham House Rules will operate.

<http://www.chathamhouse.org.uk/about/chathamhouserule/>

For further information please contact Caitlin Kurylo at traccc@gmu.edu 703-993-9757