

Ho-Jin Lee

Guest Scholar, Foreign Policy, Center for Northeast Asian Policy Studies

Ho-Jin Lee's Korean foreign service career spanned over three decades, and covered the United States, Europe and East Asia. Lee specializes in the ROK-U.S. alliance, East Asian security, arms control and nonproliferation, and nuclear energy. He was most recently ambassador to Finland and has also served as ambassador to Hungary. In his personal capacity, he worked for the UN Secretary-General as a member of the UN Advisory Board on Disarmament for five years.

Research and Commentary

 Recent Developments in the Korean Peninsula In the Context of the U.S.-ROK Alliance, February 25, 2011 World Affairs Council of St. Louis

 After the U.S.-China Summit: The Onus on the Two Koreas, January 24, 2011 The Brookings Institution

 Don't Rush Back to Nuclear Negotiations with North Korea, November 23, 2010 The Brookings Institution

 The EU-Korea Free Trade Agreement, October 2010 Brookings Northeast Asia Commentary

For further information about Ho-Jin Lee please go to: <http://www.brookings.edu/experts/leeh.aspx>